SASKATOON OLYMPIC TORCH RELAY COMMITTEE LAUNCHES PLANS AND NAMES COMMUNITY TORCHBEARER

At Oskayak High School this morning, the Saskatoon Olympic Torch Relay Organizing Committee revealed some of its plans to welcome the Olympic Torch on its cross-Canada journey when it reaches Saskatoon on Monday, January 11, 2010 over the noon hour.

One of the highlights of the Torch's arrival is the Community Torchbearer, who has been selected to carry the Torch on its final leg in Saskatoon. Local teacher, athlete, and role model Jacqueline Lavallee has been named as Saskatoon's community torchbearer for the Vancouver 2010 Olympic Torch Relay. She will have the honour of lighting the cauldron on stage in Saskatoon during the two-hour community celebration at Kiwanis Park. Jacqueline is a teacher at Oskayak High School who motivates and inspires youth to overcome obstacles by setting and achieving goals for themselves. Ms. Lavallee is a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, an All-Star and All-Canadian athlete in both soccer and basketball, and is an inductee in the Saskatchewan Sports Hall of Fame.

"Jacqueline embodies the Olympic spirit of hard work, teamwork, inspiring others, and reaching for your goals," said Mayor Donald Atchison. "We are so very proud to have her represent our community to the rest of the world."

Also on hand at the launch was Olympian Joan McCusker with an inspiring message for the students. Part of the pre-torch activities involves four Olympians visiting over 60 schools in Saskatoon in November to deliver a message of setting goals, being one's best, and teamwork.
